

Eau Galle Dam, Spring Valley

Photo taken by Katie Bartko.

The Eau Galle Dam is part of the Eau Galle Flood Control Project, which also includes a lake, recreation area, and channel improvements. The project was initiated in 1958 to control flooding in the Spring Valley area. The dam is the largest earthen dam in the Midwest.